Thinks Russia, China Split Irrevocably

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent
New developments in the Moscow-Peking dispute make virtually inescapable the conclusion that communism is finally and irrevocably split into two main camps.

Premier Khrushchev is under pressure to call an international Communist conference in June or July in a last effort to avert the division. But it is likely such a meeting would only confirm that the split is a fact.

Red-ruled Romania has been trying feverishly to mediate the dispute but seems almost ready to give up.

The Romanian party's April statement on the schism between a Red Chinese contention that "in conditions now prevailing in the Communist movement, a split both on the international plane and within various parties becomes necessary and unavoidable." The party said what Peking is doing "means to call for a split."

Infuriated, Khrushchev's Soviet party has delivered two new Sunday punches at the Red Chinese, both on the same theme: Red China is trying to break out of isolation and throw its weight around in capitalist countries. It turned heavy propaganda artillery on Chinese pretensions to leadership of a new world bloc.

The Soviet party fired a barrage on this subject in the March issue of its theoretical journal, Kommunist. It renewed the attack in the journal's latest issue, out this week.

Kommunist accused the Chinese last month of trying to set up an "intermediate zone" which, by implication, would regard the Soviet Union and the United States with equal hostility.

This week Kommunist accused the Chinese of playing up to capitalists in Western Europe and Japan and dealing with governments which are members of Western alliances.

The Chinese idea, say the Russians, is that Communists should zero in on the United States as the main enemy, and that thus it is possible to seek support even among U.S. allies.

The Russians insist this is wrong, that not only the United States is the enemy, but all "imperialists."

The Russians, too, seem to conclude that Peking has passed the point of no return in the dispute. Moscow accuses Peking of putting together its own program for world revolution in a "25-point platform" counterposed against the Soviet plan for global victory.

This "frankly anti-Soviet" Chinese program, says Kommunist, exploits national prejudices, sets race against race and East against West, regardless of Communist or capitalist rule.

Says Soviets Drugged Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Embassy in Moscow has protested to the Soviets that three American military attaches were drugged while on a trip to Odessa, the State Department disclosed today.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey, reporting the incident, gave few details and did not attempt to give a reason for the action.

Without naming the men, he said two assistant naval attaches and one assistant air attaché were drugged with mild effect while on a trip to the Black Sea port March 24-26. They were not harmed.

He said the protest was lodged in Moscow this week. He said he did not know the reason for the delay in filing the protest.

Rights Backers Win First Test in Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate sponsors of the civil rights bill have won their first test of strength, but it was a close call.

After four roll calls Wednesday night—one a 45-45 tie—the Senate rejected 46 to 45 a jury trial amendment to the measure.

The votes were the first on any of the nearly 100 amendments offered to the House-passed bill since the Senate's civil rights debate began on March 9.

The defeated amendment, called up by Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., would have provided for jury trials in criminal contempt of court cases arising out of antidiscrimination injunctions authorized by the bill.

It was opposed by the Johnson administration and the bill's sponsors, both Democrats and Republicans.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern forces, said a variation of it is likely to be offered next week in an effort to reverse the outcome.

"I was disappointed in the vote," he said. "I thought we had enough to carry it. But the pressures were too great."

The vote was a bit too close for comfort for the other side. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, GOP floor manager for the bill, called it distressing.

The vote left as the Senate's pending business a limited jury trial amendment proposed by the Senate's two leaders, Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen.

Under this, defendants in criminal contempt cases growing out of the bill's endorsement provisions would be entitled to trial by jury only if the penalty was in excess of 30 days in jail or a $300 fine.

Just when their amendment will reach a vote was left up in the air.

Mansfield told the Senate there was a possibility it would be voted on late Monday or early Tuesday, but he said no commitment had been obtained.

Southern foes can stave off a vote by continuing to talk against it. They can get a vote first on another amendment like Morton's if they offer one.

Wasn't Disturbed, Watching TV

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — "If he heard a scream, it must have come from the TV when one of the wrestlers got an arm lock on the other guy."

That was the explanation Mrs. J.D. Morton, 75, gave Wednesday when Washington State troopers sped to her home to investigate a report from her son Francis in Albany, Ore.

Morton said he heard a scream while talking to his mother on the telephone, then the line went dead.

Mrs. Morton said there was a bad connection on two calls from Francis.

"When he called the third time, I didn't pay any attention. Besides, I was watching wrestling on TV and didn't want to be disturbed."

Not Surprised at Wallace Showing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Any Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he "was not surprised" at the strong vote for Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in the Indiana presidential primary.

Kennedy, speaking to 300 law students at the University of Pennsylvania Wednesday, said "there is a revolution now in the United States over civil rights and people don't like to have their lives disturbed."

"It's not surprising then," he added, "that one-third of the people in Indiana voted for Wallace. About one-fifth of the people are against everything all the time."

Wallace, who campaigned against the civil rights bill pending in the Senate, got more than 29 per cent of the votes in losing to Democratic Gov. Matthew E. Welsh.

Some Railway Firemen Out on Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A walk-out of railroad firemen hit the nation's largest trainyard today. A union spokesman said "we considered it a lockout."

The latest flareup on one of the major issues in the five-year national railroad work rules dispute came as a long-delayed federal arbitration ruling went into effect, permitting elimination of thousands of firemen's jobs.

It came despite a restraining order against a strike, issued here Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the nation's major railroads, warned: "We will take decisive action immediately to see that the law, the court decisions, and Judge Holtzoff's restraining order are complied with."

A spokesman for H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said union pickets set up lines at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Con-way yards near Pittsburgh only after the railroad "abolished all but 10 per cent of the jobs."

But, he said, the strike at the Con-way yards and on two Illinois railroads were unauthorized. Later the walkouts in Illinois were called off.

"We are trying to get them to go back to work. We are trying to prevent it from spreading across the country," he said.

The new railroad labor dispute arose less than three weeks after President Johnson won from the railroads and five train operating unions a general agreement that is now being written into contract language.

The firemen are one of the five unions, but the issue of their jobs was tied up in the courts and was not part of the April 22 White House agreement that ended the threat of a nationwide strike. Five days later, the Supreme Court upheld the arbitration ruling.

The union spokesman said the Pennsylvania Railroad had abolished jobs of men with more than 10 years seniority in violation of the arbitration ruling.

"We feel it is deliberate harassment," he said. "The pickets there are protesting what we feel is a lockout."

The seven-man federal arbitration board is meeting today to consider disputes over interpretation and application of its award.

A hearing before Holtzoff is scheduled for Monday on his restraining order. The present order is good until May 15.

The arbitration board last November ruled that the railroads could eventually eliminate 90 per cent of firemen's jobs on diesel freight and yard engines, but with various forms of compensation or seniority protection for most of the men.

Men with less than two years seniority can be terminated immediately with severance pay. Those with two to 10 years seniority must be offered comparable jobs at comparable pay. Men with more than 10 years on the job cannot be severed except by arbitration.

Several hundred men are involved in the Pennsylvania

40 Persons Dead in Plane Crash in California

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—The Contra Costa County sheriff's office reported 40 dead and no survivors in the crash today of a Pacific Airlines transport plane en route to San Francisco from Reno.

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—Forty-four persons were killed today in the crash of a Pacific Airlines plane in foothill country 40 miles east of San Francisco.

An airlines spokesman said the plane carried 40 passengers, a crew of three, and a Federal Aviation Agency observer.

The twin-engine Fairchild F27 was Flight 733. It originated in Reno.

Sheriff's Sgt. Louis Skuse reported from the crash scene, on a ranch 10 miles east of Concord, that there were no survivors.

George M. Galvin, assistant to the airlines president, said Capt. Ernest Clark was the pilot. The first officer was R. Andrews and the stewardess Marge Schaffer.

He said the passenger list was not available.

A Tasajero rancher, Gordon Rasmussen, said the "plane exploded into small bits. There wasn't a piece larger than a foot in diameter, except for the landing gear, after it hit."

Rasmussen said he saw the plane coming in and that it "faltered, there was a puff of smoke and it crashed a mile from my ranch."

The air controller's office at Oakland International Airport said the plane abruptly disappeared from its radar scopes.

Sheriff's officers closed off the area where wreckage was scattered widely.

The wreckage did not burn.

Johnson Says Poverty Must Be Eradicated

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — While reporters' children squirmed in their seats and munched on cookies, President Johnson passed on the kind of news that makes congressmen squirm: Act on the administration program or face a possible late summer recall.

"The people's business must come first," the President declared as he mixed business — replying to newsmen's question — with pleasure—playing picnic host in the White House back yard.

"I strive to please," Johnson said at one point Wednesday, and the setting proved it. Before him were tots to teen-agers, children of newsmen invited to the presidential news conference and plied with punch served up at gaily colored refreshment stands.

The newsmen's wives responded to the presidential invitation, too, and by White House count there were 1,000 people on hand — a record, of sorts, for the usually serious business of dealing with the press.

On the sober side, Johnson: Announced that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will make still another visit to South Viet Nam to see how the war against Communist guerrillas is progressing.

Asked labor to hold wage demands within the bounds of productivity increases and appealed to business to hold the price line or even cut prices.

Said he knows of no agreement with the Soviet Union that involves Soviet acquiescence to American spy plane surveillance of Cuba.

Hoped that the Senate will pass the civil rights bill by the end of the month or the early part of June so that Congress can turn to such administration programs as the anti-poverty and medical aid measures.

Uneasiness in Cuba Reported

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Newly arrived refugees reported increasing uneasiness in Communist Cuba today.

"The atmosphere in Cuba is one of rebellion," said Jose Garcia Mora of Oriente Province, who fled by rowboat and was picked up by a vessel that brought him and eight companions to Miami.

"There are increasing rumors that something big is going to happen in May."

The Revolutionary Junta renewed a promise that its men will land in Cuba by May 20 to join guerrillas already there.

Fire Damages Negro Hotel

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Negro motel, still under construction, was heavily damaged by an explosion, Sheriff Fred Pickett said Wednesday night.

The damage was discovered when the motel owner made a routine check of the structure. Residents of North Jackson had reported an explosion Tuesday night but heriff's deputies had been unable to find the blast scene.

Pickett said the blast ripped a 30 foot hole in the roof, knocked out walls and buckled and gutted the floor.

Says Wallace Made a Real Fine Showing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today the importance of Alabama Gov. George Wallace's 33 per cent vote showing in the Indiana primary should not be discounted.

"All the state's political organizations were against him," Faubus said in a news conference. "The governor (Matthew E. Welsh) was a favorite son running for the national administration. And Wallace was just a lone man traipsing around the state, appearing where he could."

Faubus said he couldn't tell whether Wallace's showing would have an effect on the civil rights bill pending in Congress.

And he revealed why he did not attempt to establish himself as a national figure after the Little Rock integration crisis of 1957.

"At one time I had on my desk more than 235 invitations to speak outside the state," Faubus said. "Actually many of these presented a better opportunity than Wallace has. But I was elected governor and I felt it would be difficult to do my duty going around the country."

doubts if Arkansas voters will approve a bond issue to finance a rural road construction program.

Highway Commissioner Truman Baker suggested Wednesday that the state float a $60 million bond issue for this purpose, with the bonds to be retired by a one-half cent increase in the gasoline tax.

"The people take pride in the low indebtedness of the state," Faubus said. "It has been reduced by 50 per cent during my administration. It is questionable whether the people would approve any increase in this debt."

Faubus has some experience with the reluctance of Arkansas voters to approve bond issues. His administration backed a $60 million institutional construction bond proposal in 1961 and the electorate rejected it by about two to one.

Sox Sweep a Twin Bill From Kansas City

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Nicholson, reaching for even greater heights with his strikeout act this season, has added depth to the other half of his repertoire.

The Chicago White Sox swing-er is missing the third strike at a slightly faster rate than he did last season when he fanned a record 175 times.

But Nicholson went a long way Wednesday night toward showing his ability as a double threat as the White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-4 and 11-4.

Actually, it was the ball that went a long way—573 feet by Comiskey Park measurement. The hit was one of three home runs Nicholson clouted in the two games.

According to existing records, only a 600-foot blast by Babe Ruth at Detroit in 1926 went farther than Nicholson's home run over the roof of the left-field stands.

Nicholson's other two homers didn't go as far, but they still accounted for four runs and gave him four homers for the season.

At the same time, the 6-foot-2, 215-pounder gave equal treatment to his strikeout artistry, fanning three times for a season total of 22. If he maintains his present pace and bats the same number of times as he did last year, the 24-year-old right-hander would strike out 194 times.

Nicholson wasn't the only home run hitter Wednesday night. He New York Yankees got into the act as they split a doubleheader with Washington, winning the opener 9-2 and dropping the nightcap 5-4. Cleveland home runs stopped Baltimore 7-5. Detroit whipped Boston 6-3 and Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 4-3 in other American League games.

In the National League, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 1-0. Los Angeles halted Houston 5-2. Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 7-6. Cincinnati turned

Crozier Named Rookie of Year

CLEVELAND (AP) — Roger Crozier, the 22-year-old goalie whose part-time performances were a big factor in Pittsburgh's winning the Western Division title in the American Hockey League, was selected today as the outstanding AHL rookie of the 1963-64 season.

Crozier will receive the Dudley (Red) Garrett Memorial Trophy and a league bonus of $300. He received 37 of a possible 45 points in the voting of sports writers and broadcasters.

back New York 12-4 and Chicago defeated San Francisco 4-2.

Nicholson's second homer in the first game, a two-run blow, climaxed a four-run rally and clinched the victory for Gary Peters. In the nightcap, Nicholson's two-run blast came during Chicago's five-run first inning. Jim Gentile had cracked a three-run homer for the Athletics in the first.

Floyd Robinson connected for the White Sox in the third while Minnie Minoso belted a three-run pinch homer in the seventh, putting the game far beyond Kansas City's reach.

The Yankees, held to three home runs in 13 games, erupted for five homers but still gained only a split with the Senators. Hector Lopez connected twice and Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris once each as New York glided to the first-game victory.

Mantle hit another in the second game, which the Senators won in the ninth when Chuck Hinton scored from third on catcher Elston Howard's passed ball. Hinton smashed a two-run homer in the first game and a three-run blow in the second.

One Death May Saved Second One

HOUSTON (AP)—The death of one young athlete may have indirectly saved the life of another.

Mickey Herskowitz of the Houston Post, traveling with the Houston Colts, told from Los Angeles Wednesday the remarkable story that involves an almost chilling coincidence.

Two weeks ago Jack Pardee, former star fullback at Texas A&M and now a linebacker with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, quitly underwent surgery for the removal of a malignant growth on his right forearm.

Pardee, now recovering at his home in the San Fernando Valley, is optimistic about the future, and will know within 30 days if he can report in July for the start of his eighth professional season.

On the morning of April 10, Pardee sat down to breakfast and turned to the sports section of a Los Angeles newspaper.

He read, with rising interest and a sense of uneasiness, of the death of Jim Umbricht, the Houston Colt pitcher, from cancer.

Pardee thought about the mole on his right arm. He had noticed it nearly a year ago, and last winter in the middle of the pro football season—he knew he should consult a doctor.

But this meant missing a game and Pardee said he told himself he would attend to it when the season ended. The season ended. The weeks turned into months and the day came when he read of Umbricht's death after a brave but hopeless battle.

"The way the papers described it," Pardee said, "it sounded exactly like what I had. I made an appointment to see a doctor the next morning. Actually, my wife—Phyllis—had insisted on it."

Tests revealed the growth on Pardee's arm was malignant. His doctor told him he had melanoma—black mole cancer—the very form of the disease that had been detected too late in Umbricht.

On April 20 surgeons at the Medical Center at UCLA removed the growth in an operation that lasted 9½ hours.

"It was a complicated operation," Pardee said, "and my arm has been a little slow to heal. But my doctors say that I can expect a complete recovery. I just thank God we caught it in time."

Pardee had never met the late Houston pitcher, whose determination touched and inspired people throughout the country.

"I don't know how long I might have put it off, if I hadn't read that story. I felt fine, and you know how it is. When you're feeling good you hate to see a doctor."

Cager Signs With Arkansas State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Mike Burk, 6-foot-6½ Jonesboro high school basketball star, signed an agreement Thursday night to attend Arkansas State College next fall.

Burk was named to the coaches and athlete's All American squad this spring and was an All-Big 10 standout. Burk said he had offers from 20 schools and visited Baylor, the University of Arkansas and Lamar Tech and Texas before choosing Arkansas State.

Perkins Named Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Perkins of Chicago was named the "Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine today for his impressive performance in retaining his world junior welterweight championship last month against challenger Bunny Grant of Kingston, Jamaica.

In the Ring Ratings, released at the same time by publisher Nat Fleischer, Eddie Machen, of Los Angeles, who is scheduled to fight former champion Floyd Patterson in July in Sweden, was moved up to fourth in the heavyweight class. Ernest Terrell of Philadelphia was dropped to fifth. They were the only changes in the class ruled by world champion Cassius Clay.

BATTING — Dave Nicholson, White Sox, hit three homers, one a 573-foot shot—the second longest homer on record — in Chicago's 6-4, 11-4 doubleheader sweep over Kansas City.

PITCHING — Bob Friend, Pirates, recorded the 31st shutout of his major league career, stopping St. Louis 1-0 with six-hitter.

Friend retired Flood, Charlie James and Johnny Lewis. Drysdale, now 3-1, had trouble only in the seventh when Walt Bond's fourth homer, a single by Bob Aspromonte and John Bateman's double produced the Colts' runs. Roseboro was instrumental in two Dodger runs. A walk, Roseboro's double and a sacrifice fly brought in a run in the second then Frank Howard's triple and Roseboro's single added another in the fourth.

The Braves held a 6-5 lead in the eighth when rookie Richie Allen got the Phillies started with a walk. Two outs later, Covington beat his former Milwaukee teammates.

Gibson's Close Tosses Costing the Cardinals

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Roger Craig rubbed off on Bob Gibson?

Craig probably hasn't revealed any of his tough-luck techniques to his new St. Louis teammate, but it's been an unusually unsuccessful week for Gibson, who got too close to the target Monday night and Wednesday night couldn't get close enough.

It cost Gibson $50 Monday night when he fired a couple of beanballs at Philadelphia pitcher Dennis Bennett. It cost the Cardinals a victory Wednesday night when Gibson fired a peg over first base and let the winning run score in a 1-0 loss to Pittsburgh.

Ray Sadecki came on in relief of Gibson in the ninth after Roberto Clemente led off with a double. Gibson proceeded to walk Donn Clendenon intentionally. Bob Bailey followed with a bunt down the third-base line, and when Gibson threw wildly, Clemente raced home with the clincher.

The victory went to Bob Friend, who checked the Cardinals on six hits for a 3-0 record. Sadecki allowed only seven hits, but came up with a 0-3 record when Gibson extended his streak of misfortune.

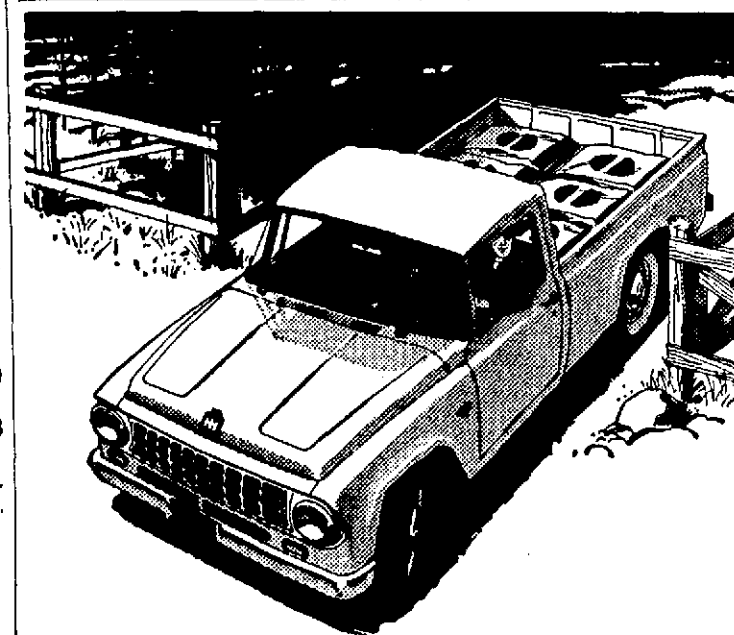

Don Drysdale, meanwhile, got a 3-for-3 performance from catcher John Roseboro and broke a string of four straight losses to Houston pitcher Dick Farrell, hurling his third complete game in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 5-2 victory over the Colts.

Elsewhere in the National League, Wes Covington's two-run homer gave Philadelphia a 7-6 decision over Milwaukee, Leo Cardenas drove in four runs as Cincinnati walloped the New York Mets 12-4 and the Chicago Cubs whipped San Francisco 4-2 behind Larry Jackson's five-hit pitching.

In American League action, Cleveland defeated Boston 7-5. Detroit downed Boston 6-3, the Los Angeles Angels edged Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox won a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-4 and 11-4 and New York and Washington split.

The Yankees won 9-2 before the Senators took the nightcap 5-4.

Friend was in trouble twice—Ken Boyer put him there both times. Boyer doubled in the fourth but was thrown out at home when he tried to score on a single by Curt Flood. In the seventh, Boyer led off with a triple, but stayed there as

Children Tell How Parents Were Killed

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — Ronald Dever, 9, and Mary Dever, 6, each told two versions here Wednesday of how their parents and four sisters died in their home last Dec. 20.

They testified in the first degree murder trial of Frank Harris, 47, of Jonesboro.

Harris has been convicted on a first degree murder charge in the death of Leonard Dever. He is being tried in the deaths of Mrs. Dever and four of her children. The family died in their house at Trumann. The house was destroyed by fire.

The state rested its case after the children's testimony. The defense rested without calling witnesses, although there had been indications that Harris would testify. Twenty other persons had been subpoenaed as defense witnesses. Harris did not testify in his trial in Dever's death.

The children apparently watched the tragedy from a bedroom.

Both answered "yes" to questions from defense attorney Bon McCourtney which indicated that Harris came to their house, asked for moonshine whiskey, was told by Dever that he couldn't have any; was knocked to the couch by Dever and threatened with his own shotgun, which he had brought, and then ran from the house.

Other testimony from the children indicated their father killed their mother.

Prosecutor Todd Harrison asked Ronald, "After your daddy said you can't have the whiskey, what did Frank say?"

"I'm going to shoot you."

"What did your daddy say?"

"I'm going to hit you."

"What did Frank Harris do?"

"He shot my daddy."

"What happened to your mamma?"

"Frank shot my mother."

"Who put fuel on the bed and the floor (setting fire to the house)?"

"Frank."

McCourtney started his cross-examination of Ronald by asking, "Where did your father first set the house afire?"

"On the floor," Ronald answered.

Later, the prosecutor asked Ronald, "Is what you told Mr. McCourtney about your daddy putting fuel in the house and setting fire to it the truth or were you just agreeing with him?"

McCourtney objected, and the objection was sustained.

Both children testified to Harrison that Harris threw them back into the burning house. But when McCourtney asked Ronald, "Did Frank Harris throw you or Mary back in the fire?"

the boy answered, "No."

McCourtney questioned Mary: "Did your daddy knock Frank Harris to the couch?"

"Yes."

"Did your daddy shoot at Frank Harris?"

She held up one finger and

Earned $11,431 for His Ride

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Hartack who rode Northern Dancer to victory in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, earned at least $11,431.20 instead of $11,430 for his winning ride.

The extra $1.20 over the customary 10 per cent of the winning purse came from Mrs. William E. Behringer of Bay Shore, N.Y., a community on Long Island.

Hartack found a check in a letter from Mrs. Behringer in his mail Wednesday in the jockey quarters at Aqueduct.

"Quite by accident," wrote Mrs. Behringer, "I picked your mount, Northern Dancer, in a Kentucky Derby pool. You rode an excellent race. Therefore I would like you to accept 10 per cent of my winnings." Enclosed was the check for $1.20.

Duplicate Threat to Nicklaus

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Rain and a top-flight field posed a duplicate threat to Jack Nicklaus today as he opened his bid for the Colonial National Invitation Golf Championship.

Nicklaus, young powerhouse from Ohio, was rated the favorite as 72 players teed off in quest of a plum $75,000 purse.

A record $14,000 has been set aside for the winner who, the experts contend, will be Nicklaus, Masters champion Arnold Palmer or defending champion Julius Boros.

However, it was youthful Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., who stole the preliminary spotlight with a two-under-par 68 in a pro-amateur Wednesday. It netted him first-place money of $350.

Cloudy skies threatened all day to wash out the $3,500 apolizer after dumping showers intermittently for 48 hours. However, the threat produced little more than a good soaking for the treacherous 7,122-yard course.

A revised forecast called for more cloudiness with a possibility of thundershowers.

New Zealander Bob Charles and Dan Sikes of Ponte Vedra, Fla., deadlocked for second among the low pros with 69s. Each picked up $277 for his efforts.

South African Gary Player was a picture of frustration after he whipped in with a 69 only to discover that he had 15 clubs in his bag and was therefore subject to a four-hot penalty. The resulting 73 knocked him out of the money.

Nicklaus, the tour's leading money-winner with $46,150 officially, was among seven 70 shooters who won $159 for the afternoon.

Nicklaus says the recurring back injury that bothered him said, "One time."

"What did your mamma do?"

"She came out of the bedroom and got another gun."

"What was she doing?"

"Pointing the gun at daddy."

"What did she do?"

"She told daddy to stop cussing. Daddy said he wasn't doing nothing."

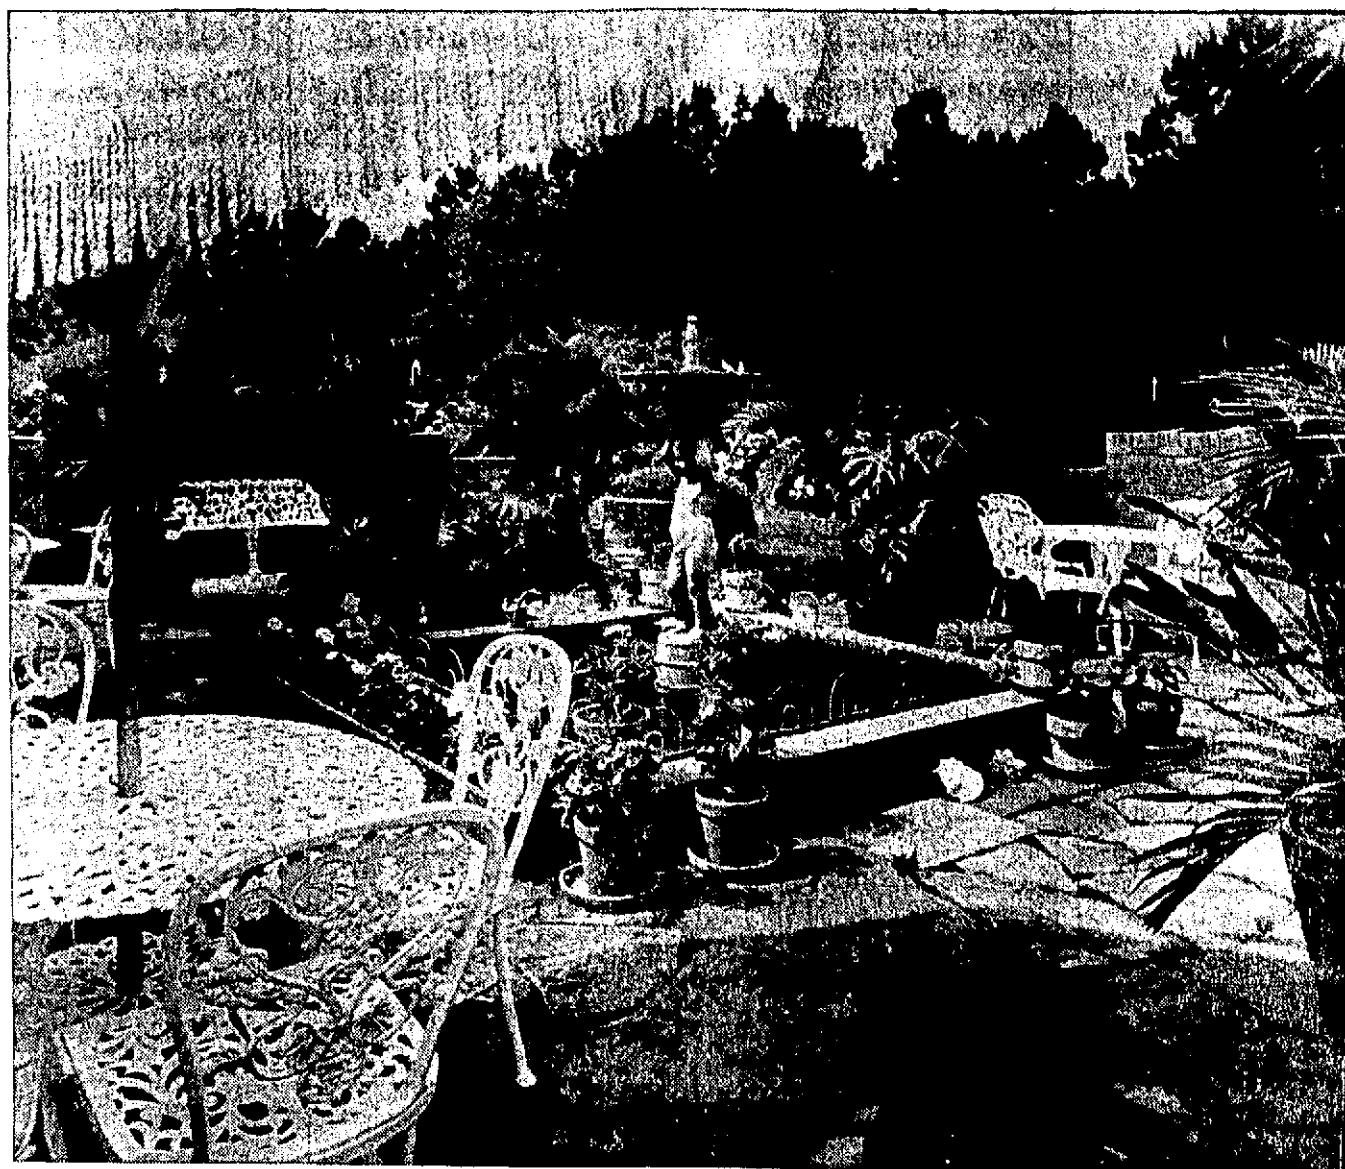

"Did your daddy shoot your mamma?"

"Yes."

"Did Frank Harris run out of the house then?"

"Yes."

Showing by Wallace Is Changing

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's showings in two state primaries have poured more fuel into the Senate civil rights debate. But many senators say they have changed few if any votes on the bill.

Both sides in the debate have used Wallace's vote percentages in Wisconsin and Indiana to try to bolster their arguments.

Thus Southern senators have declared that the Alabama states' rights advocate ran up amazing vote totals clearly indicating a revolt in the North against civil rights legislation and Negro demonstrations.

The bill's supporters reply that, if the two primaries were to be regarded as a test of sentiment on the measure, they would be more than satisfied with the 70 per cent of the vote Wallace's opponents polled in the two Democratic primaries.

President Johnson didn't seem impressed. At his news conference Wednesday the President noted Wallace's share of the total vote of both parties in the primaries, saying: "He got 24 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin and a little less than 20 per cent of the vote in Indiana. I wouldn't think that would be any overwhelming endorsement of a man's record."

Although in the Senate debate both sides voiced strong opinions on what Wallace's showings meant, their opinions expressed privately were not so positive.

One Southern senator told a reporter, "I doubt very much if these primaries will affect the final outcome on this bill. They may make it somewhat easier to adopt some amendments."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., voiced the view of numerous senators with this comment: "I don't know of any votes (on the bill) the primaries have changed; they might have scared a few senators."

The four Democratic senators from Wisconsin and Indiana said they remained as fully committed to the bill as they ever were.

Doesn't Like to Be Left Alone

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — When a car horn kept blowing outside the Police Department Wednesday, Traffic Lt. Ed Bozarth looked out the window. And he took a second look.

A big German shepherd dog had his forefeet planted firmly on the horn of a police car. His master, Patrolman Lorman Adair, was inside the building. "He does it every once in a while," Adair said. "He doesn't like to be left alone."

Scratching spreads infection, causing more pain. Apply quick-drying ITCH-IE-NOT instead. Itching quiets down in minutes and antiseptic action helps speed healing. What People Are Doing With Tax Cut

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the mystery of what people are doing with their tax cut bonanza is lifted by government figures on personal debts.

A lot of them have used the increase in their take-home pay to lighten the load of their charge accounts and single payment loans. Others apparently have used some of the tax windfall to make larger than usual repayments on various types of installment credit other than for autos.

But another sizable group has been encouraged by the higher take-home pay to make down payments on still more installment credit.

Merchants earlier had reported little apparent rush of shoppers to spend the new money in the stores. Gains in retail sales had followed usual seasonal patterns and were otherwise in line with slowly increasing personal income totals from other than tax cut windfalls.

Banks had failed to report any great rise in savings accounts. The U.S. Treasury's sales of savings bonds was smaller in April than in March and also below the figure for April 1963. Then just where was the new money going?

A really notable change after the larger pay checks began to appear in March was in charge accounts and single payment loans. These tend to be smaller than the installment type debt. And a man with a few extra dollars in his pocket is likely to think of tidying up some of the pressing bills before tackling the problem of the regular monthly payments on household appliances, cars and the home mortgage.

Also, the tax cut benefits began showing up when many persons were calculating how much they still might owe in federal and state income taxes for last year. And, in many cases, the extra dollars came in handy in making first advance payments on this year's taxes. In that case, the Treasury gave and the Treasury took away without the individual noticing much immediate benefit.

Although repayments of installment credit increased in March more than seasonally, the volume of new debt advanced even more, so that the total outstanding hit another national high.

TALBOT FEILD, JR.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, said he was looking for an agreement that would make it possible to get the two-thirds majority necessary to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents of the bill.

As of now proponents of the bill concede they are short of the required votes—67 if all 100 senators vote.

Brooks Returns Under Probe

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke confirmed today the Internal Revenue Service is investigating his income tax returns for the years 1959 through 1961.

The Negro official said the government probe has been under way since shortly after he took office in January, 1963.

"As far as I am concerned," he said, "I have no reason to believe it is more than just a routine check."

Brooke, who already holds the highest elective office held by anyone of his race, said the investigation or its outcome will not influence his future political plans.

He is often mentioned in political circles as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Brooke said he will announce his political plans within two weeks.

Fair Visitors Ask Where Are Others

By HILMI TOROS

NEW YORK (AP)—Is it really the World's Fair? Michelangelo's "Pieta" is there. So are Goya's two flawless "Maja" paintings from Spain, the white pristine minarets and a 1,200-year-old delicate fresco from the Sudan and the architectural gem of a dynastic Chinese temple.

These—coupled with rum and wildly decorated straw hats—enrich a fairgoer's jaunt to the international section of the New York World's Fair.

But a visitor—perhaps a bit fatigued after strolling through 139 exhibits—can also ponder: Where are the others? The "cheere" from Great Britain, the "Mona Lisa" smile of the French government, the sweets of Damascus, Syria, or a sign that reads: "From Russia, with love."

Why aren't they here? "No money," is the explanation of some countries. Other nations say the fair isn't "official."

"We planned to come. But later the Cabinet decided we couldn't possibly afford it," a spokesman for Turkey said. "Rent alone would have cost almost $200,000."

At the moment a square foot of Flushing Meadow rents for $3 a year, compared with the $1.10 of the Hannover, Germany fair. In the 1939 New York fair, no foreign government paid space rental for pavilions smaller than 10,000 square feet.

This year the rent for the Belgian pavilion—the largest of all foreign entries with 164,811 square feet—is nearly half a million dollars.

To economize, Austria fashioned its A-shaped building at home. The Sierra Leone pavilion was constructed so it can be shipped to Africa for use as a public building when the Fair closes in 1966.

Great Britain and 30 other nations, including the Western European countries, didn't enter the fair since the lawmaker of the world's "official" fairs in Paris ruled that the exhibit was not "official" but strictly private.

The Bureau of International Expositions so advised its 31 members.

Khrushchev to Have Use of Royal Car

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

CAIRO (AP) — Ex-King Farouk's royal railway carriage has been polished up to carry Soviet Premier Khrushchev around Egypt when he arrives this weekend for a visit. A couple of gingerbread palaces have also been prepared for his stay.

"We are grateful to Khrushchev and we are going to show him so," a ranking member of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's inner circle told an American friend.

In Egyptian eyes, the Soviet leader helped them break the Western arms embargo in 1955, got them past post-Suez economic sanctions from the West and financed the prestigious dam at Aswan. Either of these would have earned Khrushchev a warm welcome. The three together rate much more, and Khrushchev's reception here will show it, officials say.

He is expected to stay in Egypt 20 or more days and Egyptians are hopeful nothing will mar his visit, his first to Africa. There are no major is-

Astronauts' Training at Half Mark

By HAROLD WILLIAMS

HOUSTON Tex. (AP) — The fledgling group of astronauts has reached the halfway mark in classroom training and most of them are itching to get started in spaceflight familiarization. Capt. Donn F. Eisele, 33, a Columbus, Ohio, native said: "I'll be glad to get this over. I'm looking forward to getting sues threatening relations between the Soviet leader and Nasser, one high-placed spokesman said, and Nasser was pictured as ready to do everything possible—except surrender his neutrality—to make Khrushchev's trip rewarding.

In return, of course, Egyptians would like to get pledges for new economic assistance to ward their coming second five-year plan. As a starter, $120 million would do.

Warmth has not always existed between Nasser and Khrushchev. Despite his neutralism and occasional pro-Soviet positions, Egypt's Socialist leader has engaged in loud arguments with Khrushchev.

to work. Classroom work is sort of passive and I would like to be more active."

Capt. William A. Anders, one of the few astronauts who was not a test pilot, said he was looking forward to spaceship training, too.

Both men were stationed at Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N.M., at the time of their selection last Oct. 10. Fourteen were named at that time.

They started training Feb. 1 and Donald K. Slayton, chief of astronaut training, said book work would be finished about the middle of June or early July.

After classroom study comes the training usually associated with astronauts—jumpy rides on a centrifuge at Johnson Space Center, weightlessness flight in a KC135 airplane and desert and tropical survival training.

Also to be included in the rigid schedule are ejection seat rides, helicopter training, parachute jumping, and hours and hours of studying Gemini and Apollo spacecrafts.

Because this group is generally given the best chance to be first to the moon, classroom work has been heavy on geology with 58 hours scheduled.

Flight mechanics require 40 hours, guidance and navigation 34, Gemini on board computer 24, astronomy 15, digital computers 12, rocket propulsion systems 12, physics of the upper atmosphere and space 12, medical aspects of space flight 12, aerodynamics 8, communications 8, and global meteorology 4.

Johnson's Health Not Slowing Him

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the whirlwind pace he's been keeping, President Johnson's heart—the heart that suffered an attack in 1955—is apparently still doing fine.

That was the indication from the White House today in answer to a query concerning the state of the President's health.

The query was motivated by the fact the President, ever since he took office, has maintained a fast and vigorous working schedule—ranging from sudden airplane trips to fast-paced on-the-hoof news conferences held on the quarter-mile driveway behind the White House.

At least one published report has said some of Johnson's associates have been worried about his energetic pace—in view of his history of having had one heart attack.

However, there are indications the President knows how to mix rest and relaxation with his fast-stepping work day.

The White House said Johnson's latest electrocardiograph examination—a test of his heart function—showed a normal finding. The same is true of his pulse, blood pressure and breathing rate.

Furthermore, there is "no enlargement of the heart," the White House said. It was the first technical word on Johnson's health since Dec. 4, shortly after he took office.

None of Johnson's own doctors—and he has them in various parts of the country as well as the White House—were available for interviews on the subject.

But one doctor outside the White House—who has nothing to do with President Johnson's case—told a reporter the information given out by the White House, together with the obvious fact that Johnson has been leading a fast work pace, add up to this, in his opinion:

"The fact that he has been able to maintain the pace gives reassurance that his coronary attack of 1955 was well-healed."

The doctor said the medical details given out by the White House could be interpreted this way:

1. "Normal" EKG: Means that the electrical-conducting system that makes the heart work was not damaged permanently by Johnson's coronary thrombosis in 1955.

2. "Normal" pulse: Means that Johnson's heart is responding well to its work-load—that is, it's not going too fast, or too slow.

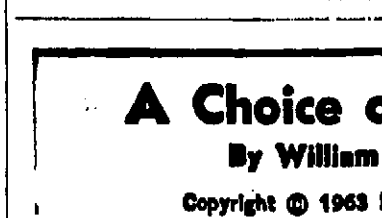

3. "No enlargement of the heart": Means for one thing that the area of heart muscle damaged when a clot blocked Johnson's coronary artery during the 1955 attack has healed well. It also means that unaffected muscle in the heart has been able to carry the heart's work-load without becoming enlarged.

Signs that the President knows how to taper off from a hard-driving schedule include the following:

During his walkathon in the White House back yard last Saturday he told reporters he is usually in bed by 11 p.m.—and watches television or reads until about 2 a.m.

He is awake by 6:45 a.m.—automatically, and without any alarm clock, he indicated—but he stays awake a couple of hours after that, reading, or just rest-

Willie said, "The truth about mankind, as Jung tells us, is not in our history books, but in all the clouds of myth and superstition and imagery which are gathered in the human unconscious. To part those clouds is to reveal the truth, but unfortunately, this has always been a lengthy process."

"And so we are back to where we started, at crash analysis," Karl said. "To give an example, there is a prosperous businessman in Frankfurt who cannot open a door." He smiled somewhat anxiously at Malcolm, as if apologizing for this seemingly whimsical or irrelevant statement. "It is almost funny. But it is, in fact, quite tragic. In the evening his wife or the maid must be waiting to open the door of his home. Otherwise, he would spend the night in the street. If he were in a burning building, he couldn't save himself if it meant turning a doorknob. This much we know of him: as a young child during the war he lived on a street where a dreadful atrocity occurred. A Jewish family lived in the house opposite his. Soldiers came one night and pounded on the door of their home. The father refused to open it. The soldiers hammered on it with the butts of their rifles. It was a thick, solid door, and it took them a long time to break it down. Our patient watched all this, and when the door was finally smashed open, the 16-year-old daughter of that Jewish family jumped from her window onto the street and was killed. Our patient saw this but he refuses to remember it. So far we have not been able to lead him back to this scene. But the linkages are clear to us: he is, himself, now married to a woman who is half-Jewish, and whose health is not good. Unconsciously, he despises himself for this disloyalty. Behind the clouds that veil his unconscious mind, there are massive guilts. He tries to save his ill wife—as he couldn't save another helpless Jewish girl—by refusing to open doors."

The questions about Malcolm's early background took the rest of the morning. Karl interrogated him while Willie made rapid notes on small white cards. The questions related to his father and mother, his religious training, his school teachers, and friends.

Malcolm suspected all this would prove pointless. He couldn't in honesty provide these serious and likeable young men with a chamber of horrors from his past.

Malcolm had been raised in a comfortable home surrounded by comfortable ideas. When he found that many of these weren't true, such as virtue being its own reward, he had been relieved.

Karl and Willie did not indicate that they found any of this information trivial or insignificant. They were as grave and attentive as priests, and the little stack of white index cards grew higher and higher as Malcolm talked on.

"Now you must tell us of your wife," Karl said with a sympathetic smile.

Malcolm had married Jane Cordwainer when he was 23. She had admired his background (which was properly upper middle-class) and also the snapshots of his prosperous relatives which filled the family albums.

They were profoundly and seriously in love, with the result that women stopped making passes at Malcolm, and men sighed wistfully but hopelessly.

Thus, he indicated, he rests up to 10 hours, even though he's not sleeping that long. Moreover, he swims before lunch—and takes a nap every afternoon.

over Jane.

They ate an excellent lunch of cold shrimps, thick, tender filets, grilled tomatoes, and fresh asparagus. After dessert and coffee, they returned to work.

At last Malcolm watched Willie as he collected the heap of index cards and placed them neatly into three narrow metal containers. "You've got the answer there, is that right?"

"Yes, I think so," Karl said. "With our computers at the University we would have it in five minutes. But it will take us several days to organize and analyze this data." He smiled at Malcolm. "But believe me, the true profile of your personality exists in these little stacks of cards."

When will I get the results of these tests?" Malcolm asked. Karl looked at him seriously. "You wish to know our conclusions?"

"Why, yes." "Very well," Karl said quietly, and with a certain resignation in his manner. "If that is what you wish, in two days, three at the outside, we will stop at your pensione and tell you what we have learned."

They would learn the truth as they were able to understand it, Malcolm thought, but they wouldn't understand the real horrors they had snared and caged in those narrow metal boxes of index cards.

Business to Be Better for Months

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Business will go on for several months being better than a year ago. But how much better than it is right now, that's the rub.

Expectations of a leveling off are based now on a number of things that will be glossed over by the official statistics yet to come which will picture how good things were in March, April and May.

Steel production has leveled off, for the time being at least. And the summer's normal slowdown seems as sure as anything can be in that cyclical industry. Steel's spring boom could make any summer doldrums harder to bear.

Auto production will continue strong, as dealers build up inventories prior to the wage talks due in early summer, and to the model changeovers which may come early this time and be more noticeable than a year ago.

Retail trade is flourishing in May as Americans deck themselves out for spring and summer and refurbish their homes. But any big pickup traceable to more take-home pay from the federal tax cut has yet to show. Many retailers are reported counting on only a modest pickup from this source at best. They expect to beat year-ago figures, but chiefly because of population changes and other factors under way before the tax cut.

Construction spending hit a peak in March and held level in April. Good weather in May should keep it high. But the new confidence that business is proclaiming in announcing future expansion plans probably won't hit the brick and mortar stage before autumn or later.

But Americans who have been encouraged to expect a real spurt in the economy just around the corner may have to be patient. And those who expect all the problems to be solved quickly are likely to be disappointed.

Would Work Men Doomed for Death

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett suggested today that condemned men at Tucker Prison Farm be taken from death cells and worked in the fields like other convicts.

Bennett said he made the suggestion because he was irritated by repeated delays in execution while cases of the men, all Negroes, are being appealed in federal courts.

"Various organizations want to appeal these murder and rape cases," Bennett told the state Pardons and Paroles board. "They are subverting rather than serving justice."

Board members appeared surprised by Bennett's proposal but took it under advisement. Chairman Jeff Woods of Cabot said the matter would be discussed with Prison Supt. Dan Stephens and the board probably would act on it at its next meeting. Stephens was on his way to California to pick up a prisoner.

Bennett made no attempt to conceal the fact that he was upset because a federal appellate court Monday ordered a habeas corpus hearing for Lonnie Mitchell, a Negro, condemned for rape of a white woman in Bennett's home town, El Dorado.

The appeals court ordered opened the way for a new trial for Mitchell.

Bennett referred to the death row prisoners as "parasites on the public." He added, "They should pull their share at the pen. They shouldn't be allowed to lay around and read, eat and listen to the radio and not do anything for years."

Board member Charles Adams of Hughes suggested that perhaps the men were receiving more punishment in confinement than they would working with other men.

The question of security was raised and Asst. Prison Supt. Jim Bruton said it would take at least two guards to watch the seven death row prisoners he now has and that the danger of escape would always be present. Bruton said the prisoner with the longest time on death row is Luther Bailey, sentenced for the 1956 rape of a white woman in Little Rock. He is in his eighth year. Mitchell has been on death row five years.

The other five men have been in for varying lengths of time.

Bennett said Arkansas law would permit working the prisoners although, technically, they have not been finally convicted as long as an appeal is pending.

Bennett delivered this opinion after W. P. Ball, director of the board, pointed out that the words "at hard labor" are crossed out on penitentiary commitments of condemned men.

Bennett said the U.S. Supreme court appears to be about ready to outlaw the death penalty and that it is becoming increasingly hard to carry a death sentence against a Negro through to execution.

The last three men to die in the Tucker prison farm electric chair were white. Two of them — William Nail and Charles Franklin Fields — were convicted of capital crimes while they were already serving time. The other was Emmett Earl Leggett, slayer of a 14-year-old boy.

Methodists State Civil Rights Stand

By PAUL ZDINAK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church, after spirited debate, has adopted a sweeping policy on civil rights designed to persuade Methodists to abolish racial segregation in their churches and in communities in general.

Delegates to a worldwide General Conference of the Methodist Church approved the policy by a show of hands Monday night.

The policy is embodied in a report by the Committee on Christian Social Concerns. It is now church policy but is not church law.

This means that the policy cannot be enforced by such measures as expulsion or censure.

Some of the highlights of the policy are:

—Pastors and church officials are to open their churches to persons of all races.

—Methodist bodies, organizations and individual Methodists are to use their influence to secure fair employment practices and non-segregated services in the corporations in which they hold investments.

—Equal rights should be provided for voting, law enforcement, education, employment, housing, and public accommodations.

—Elimination of racial segregation, including de facto segregation, in all public and Methodist schools.

The term "civil disobedience" was omitted from a substitute paragraph before the report came to a vote before about 900 delegates.

The original version would have condoned civil disobedience in "rare instances where legal recourse is unavailable." The substitute paragraph read in part:

"In some instances, where legal recourse is unavailable or inadequate for redress of grievances from laws or their application that, on their face, are unjust or immoral, the Christian conscience will obey God rather than man."

The chairman of the commission which drafted the report, Harold A. Bosley of New York City, told the conference that the substitute portion was not a weaker version.

"We do not intend to give a single inch in endorsing the principle of civil disobedience."

The adoption of the policy came as the conference entered its second week in Pittsburgh. The conference, which meets every four years, is the supreme policy-making body in the church.

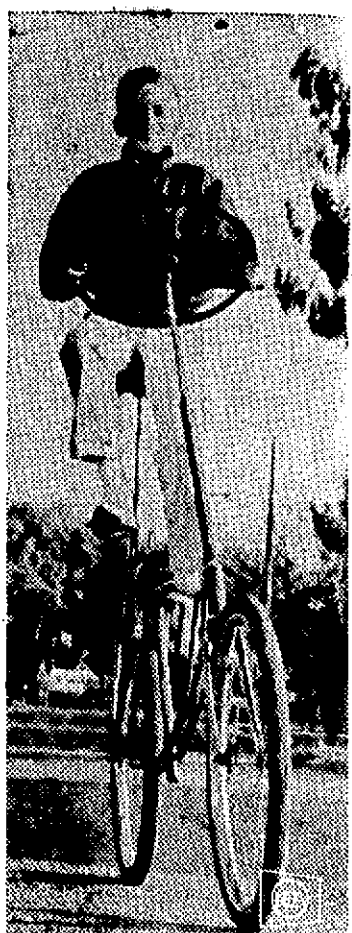

Storms Hit Midwest Two Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rash of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms struck areas in six Midwestern states Tuesday killing two persons, injuring more than 40 and causing extensive property damage.

Heavy rain, hail and tornado winds swept sections of Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas. The severe spring storms struck after temperatures had climbed to summer levels—mostly in the 70s and 80s.

Nebraska appeared the hardest hit. A series of tornadoes

Disagree on New Church Decision

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Northern bishop and a Southern bishop held differing interpretations today on a new Methodist Church law saying persons of any race are eligible to worship or hold membership in any Methodist church.

Bishop John Owen Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the key word is "eligible." He said that struck several small communities and farm areas in the central part of the state. Two persons were killed and 12 others injured when a tornado ripped through a farm area between Bradshaw and Benedict in the south-central region. At least 24 persons in Nebraska suffered injuries.

A twister which slammed into Wolbach's main street, damaging about 90 per cent of the business establishments in the town of nearly 400 and 70 per cent of the homes. Eight persons were hospitalized. Other tornadoes caused property damage in Tilden, St. Edward and near Petersburg.

More than a dozen persons were injured and between 25 and 30 homes damaged as a tornado and strong winds swept across Fairmount, N.D., a town of about 700. Property damage also was reported at nearby Breckenridge, Minn., where five persons were hospitalized. Tornado winds lashed the Pelican Rapids, Minn., area about 50 miles northeast of Fairmount, injuring seven persons.

Tornadoes and high winds skipped across a wide section of northwest Iowa, injuring at least five persons and damaging scores of farm buildings. Considerable property damage also was reported from twisters which swept along a 2-3 mile-wide path east of St. John in Stafford County, Kan. No injuries were reported. Strong winds buffeted eastern South Dakota and southern Minnesota during the night with wind gusts up to 72 miles an hour in some areas.

doesn't mean persons of any race must necessarily be admitted to any Methodist church.

Bishop James K. Mathews of Boston, said it is his feeling that Methodist churches are under a "compulsion of faith" to abide by the intent of the law and thus are obligated to throw open their doors to everyone.

The church's general conference, holding its quadrennial meeting in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena adopted the new law Tuesday night. Approval came on a show of hands and without debate.

The law reads: "The Methodist Church is a part of the church universal. Therefore, all persons, without regard to race, color, natural origin, or economic condition, shall be eligible to attend its worship services, to participate in its programs, and to be admitted into its membership anywhere in the connection."

Bishop Smith was asked to gave his interpretation of it.

He said: "All people are eligible. Eligible means they are free to go and should be admitted. I don't know if that makes it binding on them to be let in."

If a person would be kept out of a church, the bishop added, it would not be a matter of prejudice but a matter of custom, particularly in the South.

Bishop Mathews said it appeared to him it is the responsibility of pastors to see that the intent of the new law is fulfilled. But the job of enforcement would fall to bishops if disputes arose, he said.

testified Tuesday that Frank Harris told him that he did not kill Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dever.

Van Horn, testifying in Harris' first degree murder trial here, said Harris told him that Dever shot his wife.

Harris is being tried in the deaths last Dec. 20 of Mrs. Dever and four of her six children. Harris has been convicted and sentenced to life in prison in the death of Dever the same night.

Van Horn said Harris made the statement in the county jail April 24, after his conviction in Dever's death.

Sheriff Ray Holmes of Poinsett County, Deputy Bill Hook of Craighead County and Sgt. Jim Hunnicutt of the State Police testified that Harris told them he had not been to the Dever home.

They said he said he got cut near his eye while working on a car, and that he got a gallon of moonshine whisky in Harrisburg the night of Dec. 20.

Van Horn quoted Harris as saying that:

Harris went to the Dever home and traded his shotgun and seven shells to Dever for a gallon of moonshine whisky. The Devers and Harris began to gamble. Dever got drunk accused Mrs. Dever and Harris of cheating.

Mrs. Dever denied this, Dever shot her, and then he hit Harris under the eye with the gun. Harris left, ran 1 mile and turned and saw the Dever house in flames.

He returned, finding two surviving Dever children—Ronald 9, and Mary, 6 — outside the house. He put them in his car and went back to see if there was anything else he could do. Flames prevented him from entering the house.

He returned to the car and the children were gone. He went home. He did not tell the police because he was an ex-convict, "and there was nothing else I could do," Van Horn quoted Harris.

Ronald and Mary told officers that a man demanded money from their parents and shot them when the parents refused to give him money. The children said the man set fire to the house.

Dr. Daniel Matthews of the University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology in Little Rock testified that he found traces of gunpowder on paraffin from Harris' hands. Harris was given a paraffin test shortly after being arrested.

Dr. James Don Oates of Little Rock testified that he performed an autopsy on a "small adult body" and found 15 shotgun pellets in it. There was no testimony to the effect that it was Mrs. Dever's body, but it was thought to be hers.

Strolling Singers Back in Brazil

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—The "violetos" are back to the old standby ballads after a brief fling at political songfests.

As in the olden days of their supposed colonial origin, the violetos, or traveling singers, once again are spinning simple yarns of village life — extolling some heroic deed, or sneaking in a bit of ripe gossip for what ever cruzeiros the hat will catch from street audiences. As recently as the pretransistor era, the violetos linked remote villages to neighboring current events.

But no more of this "give us land and bread—or death" routine in song. Or ballads about how great things will be after Arraes and Juliano take over. The people who paid for that kind of music—friends of Gov. Miguel Arraes and the Castroite peasant leader Francisco Juliano—have been taken away.

The violetos, like the rest of northeast Brazil's underprivileged millions, are about back where they were before the great reform crusade began here some five years ago.

There were only a few years among them when the effort collapsed with the ouster of the Joao Goulart government last month. There was little to show for it: a few graves, some catchy slogans, the fading memory of a few extra cruzeiros spent in lively big towns like Natal and Recife.

There were even fewer cheers for the new leaders and their new order.

The indifference is a product of old disenchantments. It seems there've been as many promises as there are people in this poor corner of Brazil's northeast.

The eight-state area is plagued by overpopulation, among other ills. U.S. agronomists estimate that under the most advanced farming techniques, the northeast's productive acreage can support less than half its present 22 millions.

Although desperation drives out an estimated 100,000 every year, an explosive birth rate increases population 700,000.

There have been large-scale government efforts, with some U.S. assistance, to improve the situation but in many cases these efforts have been sidetracked or distorted by political machination and horseplay.

A continuing drabness has bred deep-rooted apathy.

Take Coque as an example. Two years ago when this reporter first visited this stomach-wrenching Recife slum, there was a hint of pride in the air over the opening of Yuri Gagarin School No. 15, named in honor of the Soviet cosmonaut.

When the far-leftist regime of Miguel Arraes came to power 16 months ago amid a flood of utopian promises, the school was converted into a banner-bedecked center of the Popular Cultural Movement, an alleged front for Marxist operations.

After a heavy rain the roof caved in and the center was closed.

How about Brazil's new government and its pledges to help

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is Hollywood Boulevard—Looking for a copy of a song you loved years ago? Chances are you could find it at Ring's sheet music store on Cherokee Avenue just around the corner from the Boulevard.

For 20 years the shop has been operated by Stanley Ring, a man who is short of stature and long of memory. Necessarily so, in order to hunt up songs from among the 450,000 different titles he stocks.

"How many songs do I know? Goodness, I have no way to figure," he says. "But I can find most requests, once I get the title straight. Trouble is, people give me the wrong titles."

The narrow store seems Dickensian with its dim lights, water-stained walls and carton the little man?

"We've waited this long," Claudio Oliveira, a carpenter, says. "We can wait some more to see what comes out of it."

This just about sums up the grassroots view of the new government in this ancient port of 800,000.

At a higher level, indifference turns to cautious hope. In the business community there is some optimism.

Taft Hurdles Civil Rights Issue Easily

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Ohio senator dubbed "Mr. Republican," and Democratic incumbent Stephen M. Young hurdled the civil rights issue to clinch senatorial nominations in Ohio's primary.

Ted W. Brown, secretary of state and a veteran vote getter, banked on his civil rights opposition in a sharp clash with Taft for the Republican nomination but failed to carry a majority that might indicate that civil rights issue perhaps was not as important as Mr. Brown thought," Taft said in a victory statement.

Young's nomination was unintentionally challenged by ailing Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., who withdrew from the ballot, but failed to have his name removed from the ballot.

Glenn, the first American astronaut to orbit the earth drew a solid "therapy vote," but it was less than half Young's total.

Returns from 9,370 of the state's 13,311 polling places gave Taft 446,742 votes and Brown 125,466. On the Democratic side, Young polled 330,831 and Glenn 148,170.

The peppery 75-year-old Young immediately girded for a showdown with Taft in the November general election. He accused the Republicans of making his U.S. Senate seat their No. 1 target nationally.

"I welcome this challenge," he said, adding Ohioans had a clear-cut choice "between a general supporter of the Johnson-Kennedy program and a general opponent."

Young also has supported civil rights legislation and has said "there cannot be any compromise on civil rights."

The big question in Ohio's political picture today was what effect the primary had on Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances for support of Ohio conservatives in the Republican convention in July.

Brown had termed himself a "Goldwater-type" Republican and had assailed Taft as "too liberal" to follow in the footsteps of his father.

Taft stood on his record in the House where he had cosponsored the controversial civil rights bill. He referred to himself as a "thinking conservative, not a blind conservative."

Ohio's 58-vote Republican delegation is pledged to Gov. James A. Rhodes, an uncommitted favorite son.

NEW YORK (AP) — The weather show has been developed into a curious institution. All that viewers really want to know is what to expect. That vital information can be passed along in a few concise sentences.

But television feels it must be visual. So the weather girls and boys are equipped with maps, chalk, pointers, cartoons, moving arrows and illustrations of rain, snow, sun, clouds and even hurricanes.

Television is also a commercial medium, so the weather show is dragged out to a length that will support two or three messages from the sponsor. This is accomplished by describing highs, lows, troughs, pressure systems, rain or snow patterns from coast to coast. Then, at the end like the climax of dramatic show, come the words "whether to plan on rubbers or sunshades the next day."

Jack Benny soon will be leaving CBS for NBC, but devoted fans will still be able to see him at the same number on the dials. Re-runs will be broadcast by CBS late on Sunday afternoons next fall. His new programs will be seen on NBC Friday evenings.

Raymond Burr will make one of his occasional appearances outside his "Perry Mason" show on May 12, playing a lawyer on "The Red Skelton Show."

vention is pledged to President Johnson through a stand-in, Albert S. Porter of Cleveland.

Neither party had serious contests for convention delegates. Glenn's surprising vote caused some observers to speculate that he might return to politics later.

The space hero's first venture into home state politics lasted only 73 days. He suffered an inner ear injury in a fall against a bathtub in his Columbus apartment Feb. 26 and withdrew March 30 when his recovery was slower than expected.

At his home near Houston, Tex., Glenn said he was pleased that he ran "such a good race" in the senatorial primary.

But Glenn, who said he would not run even if nominated, said he had made no plans other than to get his health back.

GRANDMOTHER JAILED—Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, 72, mother of Massachusetts' governor, spent some time in the St. Johns County jail, St. Augustine, Fla., as a result of civil rights demonstrations. She said her confinement was "very enjoyable."

No Further Law Needed on Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas has adequate machinery for moving against insurance agents who misrepresent their health policies and does not need federal legislation in the field.

This was the position taken today by Glyn Sawyer, assistant state insurance commissioner, when asked to comment on a Senate investigation into "huckster" insurance sales.

Sherwood Colburn, former state insurance commissioner in Michigan, told Senate investigators Monday that Congress should act to curb irresponsible "huckster" approaches in selling health insurance, particularly to older persons.

Sawyer said Arkansas has a number of complaints of alleged misrepresentation but that on investigation the Insurance Department finds that as many are due to misunderstanding as are due to misrepresentation.

If the department finds an agent has misrepresented a policy, Sawyer said, the state office has the power to order the company to refund the premium paid and to suspend the license of the agent.

Sawyer said that many complaints result because the claimant has inadequate coverage. "You can buy Cadillac insurance or you can buy Chevrolet insurance," he said.

Sawyer said some agents misrepresent policies to both the elderly and the young but that misrepresentation to the elderly has been found to be more frequent.

"But we find many times that the agent has not misrepresented the policy, but simply has not fully explained the coverage, mainly what the policy will not cover," Sawyer said.

The Insurance Department has kept a constant check on the problem of misrepresentation, Sawyer said, "and we think we are reducing it."

Sawyer said many complaints spring from refusal of the companies to pay claims for an illness which existed at the time the policy was bought. No policy covers such an illness.

"Some times these policies are bought on the way to the hospital," he said.

Sawyer said that to avoid misrepresentation, policy purchasers should make sure that every question on their policy application is answered correctly and, when the policy is received, the policy holder should be sure to read the limitations and exclusions in it.

"Some people don't read insurance policies because they've always heard the policies are so complicated," he said. "But reading the policy is one of the most important things the policy holder can do."

A LUNCHEON SHOWER FOR THE BRIDE

May is the month of flowers, sunshine, and showers...bridal showers, that is. And, one of the nicest showers you can give is planned around a festive luncheon.

Your menu is elegant but not elaborate...preparation is at a minimum. The feature attraction is a tempting curried soup. Served in your loveliest cups or bowls, it's so right for spring.

Canned condensed cream of chicken soup is the delicious base...add diced lamb, apple, celery, and seasonings...top with crisply toasted coconut.

Complement the soup perfectly with fresh fruit salads served in peppy orange cups. Miniature cream puffs and hot tea complete the menu.

Spring Curry Cup

1/2 cup diced cooked lamb
1/4 cup chopped apple
1/4 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon curry powder

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 soup can water

Toasted coconut

In saucepan, cook lamb, apple, celery, onion, and curry powder in butter until vegetables are just tender. Add soup and water. Heat, stirring now and then. Garnish each serving with coconut. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Memory Is the Golden Bonfire by Which We Warm Our Hearts in Times of a Chill

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory is the golden bonfire by which we warm our hearts in chill times.

The more you have to recall the warmer is the glow.

It kindles the spirit to look back now, for example, and remember when—

You couldn't put on your shoes without an instrument called a buttonhook.

Only sick people and very small children stayed in bed after 6 a.m. Seeing the sun rise was a daily inspiration to a majority of Americans.

No one could judge a woman's age for sure, but half our male citizenry were convinced they could tell how old a horse was by looking at its teeth.

If something upset you, you said it gave you "the willies." Or, if you were feeling under par, you remarked, "I've got heehee-jeebies."

Repair costs around the house were negligible, as the only mechanical gadget that ever needed fixing was the well pump in the back yard.

Anybody who got a long-distance call on the telephone knew at once some relative must be dead or mortally ill.

A child then got a bigger thrill from riding up two floors on a department store escalator than a modern child does from riding in a jet plane from New York to San Francisco.

No kitchen was complete without a rolling pin, or a basement without a tub and washboard.

Air conditioning was simple. On hot summer days a house wife could always cool off by taking her rocking chair down into the cellar, and doing her darning there.

Christmas shopping for Dad was no problem. If his only necktie was still in good shape, he could always do with a new pair of suspenders.

The best known golfer in America was John D. Rockefeller Sr. If he really liked you, he gave you a shiny new dime as a sign of his approval.

You were a real sport if you wore a pair of pearlgray spats, and gave the barber a dime tip when you got a two-bit haircut.

Any teenager who had to ask his parents for spending money was regarded as shiftless, and it was felt he was bound to come to no good end.

Freighter, Oil Barge Collide

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—An outbound freighter collided with an oil barge in Mobile harbor early today and the barge burst into flames. The Mobile waterfront was under critical threat for hours.

A spokesman at the Pure Oil Co. terminal at the state docks said the barge contained 735,000 gallons of high test gasoline.

The bow and forward hold of the 447-foot ore carrier Prospector also caught fire. The blaze was extinguished in about an hour.

The barge was beached by a Coast Guard cutter but the fire continued for hours.

The Coast Guard said no injuries were reported.

The barge burst into flames that leaped as high as 100 feet at times and lighted up the Mobile waterfront near the downtown business section.

The collision tore a gash about 40 feet long and 8 to 10 feet wide in the bow of the prospector, which flies the Liberian flag.

The vessel was able to reach a berth at the docks under its own power. City firemen extinguished the fire in the bow and hold.

The Prospector had completed unloading a cargo early today.

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Outer Limits" is an early evening show apparently designed to scare deliciously an audience that is too old for Godzilla but too unsophisticated for "Twilight Zone."

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus remarked last week that he was happy to sign a proclamation designating May as "Hire an Older Person" month in Arkansas.

"After all," quipped Faubus, speaking of his sixth term bid, "I'm asking the voters of Arkansas to re-employ an older person."

Mrs. Mary Laing, commercial code clerk in the secretary of state's office, isn't impressed that Gov. Orval E. Faubus carries a lucky buckeye.

"I've carried one for years," Mrs. Laing said. "And mine came from Ohio, the Buckeye State."

State Rep. W. L. Ward of Lee County doesn't pay much attention to official documents, but he believes every word he reads in his favorite newspaper.

As a result, Ward showed up for a recent meeting of the Legislative Council's Public Health and Welfare Committee a day earlier.

Ward arrived on Thursday, the day his favorite newspaper said (by error) that the meeting would be held. The official notice from the Legislative Council marked the meeting on Friday. And on Friday it was.

Justices of the Supreme Court are jokingly accusing one another of writing a sign which advertises the Justice Building's segment of the arts show. The signs proclaim that works of art on display in the lobby are by attorneys (one T) and their families.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus misses by 12 years being the state constitutional officer with the longest term of service. That honor belongs to Supreme Court Justice Ed McFaddin who first was elected in 1942.

Three other justice antedate Faubus. Justice George Rose Smith joined the court in 1949 and Paul Ward and Sam Robinson were elected in 1950.

Have the stories about Rockefeller got you to wondering about when Arkansas last elected a Republican governor?

News stories say the state hasn't honored a GOP candidate since "Reconstruction" which is good enough for those who know the dates of the Reconstruction Era.

For those who don't, the last Republican elected governor in Arkansas was Elisha Baxter, the successful candidate in the election of 1872. He was the second Republican to hold the state's highest office. The first was Powell Clayton, elected in 1868.

And they weren't the first governors who were not pure Democrats. The first non-Democrat was Henry M. Rector, elected in 1860. Then Arkansas elected Harris Flanigan, a Confederate, in 1862.

Back in 1901 the Legislature another season. Monday night's tale was typical of the silly series. It started with two frightened girls serving a poisoned cocktail to a handsome blackmailer standing for some unexplained reason in swimming trunks in a lake in the middle of a dark forest. Then one of those Hollywood studio storms started as the girls fled through the woods to an eerie house where they found a grim, lined man—played by, of all people, Sir Cedric Hardwicke—and a strange young man who had invented a machine that could "tilt time."

Well, sir, that poisoned fellow kept popping up, alive and dead, for most of an hour as the machine kept shuffling the past and the present. And all the time the braver of the girls kept running in the forest with a shovel trying to bury him.

This sort of stuff was grade D movie fodder before World War II. Maybe ABC needs a time tilting machine of its own.

The odds—for the next seven days of television only—are just about even that any evening network program is a rerun of a program seen earlier this season—or in a movie house long ago. There will be 42 repeats; 45 new shows.

"The Danny Kaye Show" will be replaced in early July by a variety-type show starring Rudy Vallee and featuring young performers. "The Garry Moore Show" will disappear—forever—at the end of June and reruns of hour-long specials from other seasons will be substituted.

NBC, whose summer schedule contains not a single new entertainment program, will replace "That Was the Week That Was" in July with a series of variety shows shown originally to Canadian television viewers, to be called "On Parade."

passed a law, Act 36, to prohibit riding a horse or driving a buggy, carriage or wagon across a public bridge faster than a walk if the bridge was more than 30 feet in length.

The law carried a penalty of a $5 to $25 fine.

Act 36 also carried an emergency clause which put it into effect immediately. Presumably law enforcement agencies in 1901 had a problem with "hot rod" buggy drivers.

Turkey Is Good Buy at Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turkey is a tempting feature for Mothers Day dinner, as heavy production fills supermarkets and invites lower prices this weekend.

Or lucky mothers who are being taken out to dinner may find it wise to buy at bargain prices and freeze them to serve say, on Fathers Day.

Other main courses attractively priced in most stores this weekend include broiler-fryers, beef, lamb and pork. Eggs continue to be another economy feature.

Beef attractions include ribs, round and sirloin steaks and roasts.

Pork loin roasts are a key feature in many shops. West Coast markets have shaved 2 to 3 cents a pound at wholesale. In the Midwest, bacon, spare ribs and chops are in the spotlight.

Among eggs, large sizes offer the best buy.

Produce counters are replete with spring offerings.

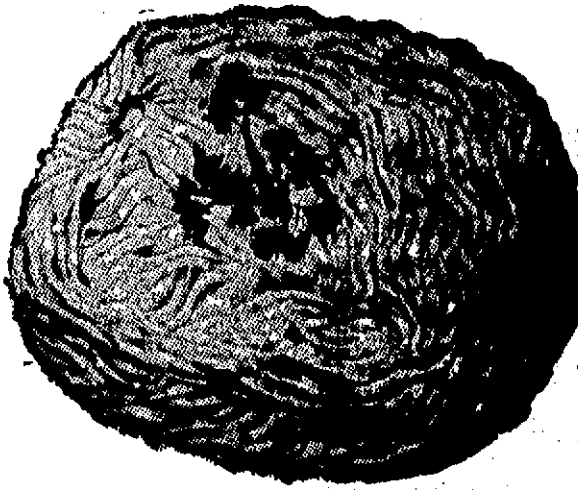

Fresh strawberries from early gardens in the Southwest are appearing at modest prices.

Watermelons are also available at lower prices than usual.
